Fees and Charges

Initial Charge

During the premium payment term, an initial charge of 5.4% p.a. of the Initial Units Account value will be deducted monthly on each Policy Monthiversary* through deduction of units from the Initial Units Account based on the unit price on the next pricing day following the Policy Monthiversary.

We will continue to deduct for the initial charge even when there is non-payment of regular premium.

**Policy Monthiversary means the same day as the commencement date in monthly intervals from the commencement date. If the day of the commencement is not present in a relevant calendar month, the last day of that calendar month will be treated as the Policy Monthiversary.*

Policy Charge

As long as the policy is in-force, a policy charge of 1.35% p.a. of the policy value will be deducted monthly on each Policy Monthiversary through deduction of units from the Initial Units Account and Accumulation Units Account based on the unit price on the next pricing day following the Policy Monthiversary.

We will continue to deduct for the policy charge as long as this policy is in force.

Monthly Protection Charge ("MPC")

A MPC will be levied during the premium payment term if the Advanced Death Benefit is selected by you. The MPC for the first two (2) policy years will be accrued and deducted from the Accumulation Units Account in one lump sum in the third policy year.

From the third policy year, the MPC will be deducted monthly in advance from the Accumulation Units Account. The MPC will be calculated based on the sum at risk**, using the MPC rates based on the age and sex of the oldest life assured in the policy on each Policy Monthiversary. If there are two (2) or more life assureds with the same birth date and of different sex, the MPC rates based on the male will be used. The MPC rates are shown in the Appendix A - Monthly Rates for Monthly Protection Charges (For Death). The sum at risk is calculated based on the prevailing unit price on the Policy Monthiversary.

The MPC rates are not guaranteed.

We will calculate the number of units to be deducted based on the MPC in proportion to the Accumulation Units Account value at the prevailing unit price on the Policy Monthiversary. The units will be sold at the unit price on the next pricing day, which may be different due to market fluctuations.

If the Accumulation Units Account has insufficient value to deduct any MPC due, we will change your death benefit to the Basic Death Benefit. You will not be allowed to reinstate the Advanced Death Benefit even if there are values in the Accumulation Units Account subsequently.

The outstanding MPC will be accrued as indebtedness and will be deducted when:

- (i) there are units in the Accumulation Units Account; or
- (ii) upon termination of the policy.

We will continue to deduct for the MPC as long as this policy is in force during the premium payment term.

When there is non-payment of regular premium and if the premiums required for the premium-paying Rider(s) are allowed to be deducted through deduction of Units, the number of Units to be deducted from the policy will be based on the premiums for such premium-paying Rider(s) in proportion to the Accumulation Units Account value at the prevailing unit price on the date when such premiums are due. The units will be sold at the unit price on the next pricing day, which may be different due to market fluctuations.

\*Sum at risk for the basic plan is the Net Premium paid converted (where applicable) into the policy currency using a premium conversion factor as determined by us from time to time at our discretion, less 101% of policy value. In the event that 101% of the policy value is greater than or equal to Net Premium, sum at risk will be zero.*

General Risks Associated with an Investment in Collective Investment Schemes

Investments in collective investment schemes are subject to market risks, fluctuations in interest rates and foreign exchange rates, political instability, exchange controls, changes in taxation and foreign investment policies and other restrictions and controls which may be imposed by the relevant authorities in other countries.

Past performance is not an indication of future performance of the fund. Investments are subjected to investment and foreign exchange risks, including the possible loss of the principal amount invested.
